JAPANESE WHISKEY

Must be made in Japan.

Mash bill must use malted grains.

Aged for at least three years in Japan.

Water used for production must be extracted in Japan.

Must be bottled at no less than 80 proof.

Many Japanese whiskeys have flavors similar to Scotch, this is because the first distilleries to make whiskey in Japan utilized Scotch production practices, mash bills, & even Scottish Coffey stills.

GIN & AQUAVIT

Gin is a beloved bartender staple here at Copper Spoon, demonstrated in the over 50 bottles we display proudly behind the bar.

While all gin derives its main characteristic flavor from juniper berries, you'll find bottles here who allow other herbs, florals, or citrus to shine.

AGAVE

Here at Copper Spoon we've made a choice to compose our selection of brands that are ethically sourced, additive free, & produced in Mexico.

The first page, while primarily composed of Mezcal, also includes Sotol & Raicilla.

All reflections of the unique plant of origin that you'll find listed next to them.

The second page is composed entirely of Tequila, a product exclusively made of blue weber agave in one of five regulated Mexican states.
